Dear:

The following outlines the conditions for the publication of your script, "(Title)", in Canadian Theatre Review. Please sign and return one copy of this letter by (date).

As author, you will be paid on publication $ (dollar amount), plus six copies of the issue of CTR in which your script is published, in exchange for non-exclusive rights to first publication. CTR material is also included in the Ebsco Publishing electronic database and is a member of Access Copyright. If you do not want your playscript to appear with these organizations, please advise University of Toronto Press (acorrigan@utpress.utoronto.ca).

You agree to provide the script in Microsoft Word format, plus a brief biographical note, information on permissions and first production, photographs or illustrations where possible, your full address, and your Social Insurance Number.

You guarantee that the script has not previously been published, and agree not to publish it elsewhere, even in revised form, within three months of its appearance in CTR. You will retain copyright, and can publish elsewhere any time after that, but agree to acknowledge its first publication in CTR.

Sincerely,

University of Toronto Press
