Competition #09-F-08

Cambrian College's School of Art and Design requires a full-time Professor to teach in the two-year Theatre Arts – Technical Production program, beginning August 2009.

The successful applicant must have a diploma and/or degree in Technical Theatre, or a related discipline and have a minimum of five years current experience working in the technical theatre field. A Master's degree or one in progress, as well as teaching experience, would be considered assets. Excellent interpersonal, oral, and written communication skills and the ability to be an effective role model in the classroom are expected. Individuals must possess excellent organizational skills and be able to function effectively in a team environment.

The ideal candidate must possess the following:

- A solid knowledge of the technical aspects of theatre including lighting, sound, set building and painting, stage management, special effects, prop making, costume management.
- A solid understanding of health and safety related to the theatre as well as the safe use of hand and power tools, ladder and lift devices.
- A strong commitment to academic excellence and student success.

The individual will also be responsible for using creative teaching approaches and is expected to use current and emerging teaching and learning technologies to enhance student progress.

The ideal candidate will also have the following preferred experience:

- Formal training in curriculum design and adult instructional techniques.
- Experience with software related to the theatre.
- Experience in directing.

All candidates selected for an interview will be required to demonstrate their teaching ability through a mini-teaching session during the interview process.

Interested individuals may apply with a covering letter, quoting the appropriate competition number, and a résumé, detailing education and experience, to:
