

Journal of Canadian Studies
Revue d'études canadiennes

Danielle Fuller and DeNel Rehberg Sedo	A Reading Spectacle for the Nation: . . . . . 5 The CBC and “Canada Reads”
Danielle Robinson and Ken Cruikshank	Hurricane Hazel: Disaster Relief, . . . . . 37 Politics, and Society in Canada, 1954-55
Lynda Jessup	Landscapes of Sport, Landscapes of Exclusion: . . . 71 The “Sportsman’s Paradise” in Late-Nineteenth-Century Canadian Painting
Stacy L. Lorenz and Geraint B. Osborne	“Talk About Strenuous Hockey”: . . . . . 125 Violence, Manhood, and the 1907 Ottawa Silver Seven-Montreal Wanderer Rivalry
Dennis Duffy	Triangulating the ROM. . . . . 157
Gregory Millard and Jane Forsery	Moral Agency in the Modern Age: . . . . . 182 Reading Charles Taylor through George Grant
	Comment/Comment?
Kenneth C. Dewar	Hilda Neatby’s 1950s and My 1950s . . . . . 210
	Reviews
Lowell Murray	The Liberal Party as Hegemon? . . . . . 232
David Collette	Politics is about Winning: . . . . . 239 Stephen Clarkson on the Success of the Liberal Party of Canada
Aideen Nicholson	A Former MP Remembers a Former PM. . . . . 244